

The most common cause of a itchy scalp is seborrheic dermatitis. Seborrheic dermatitis, commonly called "dandruff," is believed to result from overgrowth of a fungus, or yeast which results in a dry itchy scalp. Harsh chemicals found in shampoos can also contribute to a dry itchy scalp which can lead to other problems. Ingredients such as Sodium Laureth Sulphate - commonly known as SLS has been proven to strip natural oils from the skin, prematurely age the skin, inhibit hair follicle growth and more.

Reactions to perm chemicals, and hair dye allergies are also very common these days. If you've recently been to the hairdressers and are suffering from an itchy scalp, this could be the reason. It is always best to perform a patch test on any product before applying them to your scalp to ensure that you are not allergic to any of the ingredients it contains.

In order to cure this uncomfortable problem, Hair Naturel has developed a all natural organic anti itch formula designed to work instantly and stop the scalp from itching. It contains nature's richest oils that are well known for treating this problem. This includes:

Organic Neem Oil: A rich powerful oil that soothes itchiness, redness and irritation. It improves general skin health combating bacterial infections. Neem oil is well known for treating conditions such as psoriasis, eczema, scabies and head lice.

Tea Tree Oil: A powerful natural antibacterial disinfectant that is well known to cure and treat fungus and infections that causes an itchy scalp. It will help sooth an itchy scalp preventing infections.

Rosemary Oil: Not only a hair growth stimulator, but is also an excellent anti dandruff, itchy scalp remedy clearing away most cases quickly.

Jogoba Oil: excellent oil for controlling dandruff and moisturizing your scalp if it has become dry. It mimics your skin's own sebum and is therefore great for hypoallergenic skin. Easily absorbed into the scalp it helps remove deposits of sebum from the hair follicles and nourishes the scalp with B & E vitamins and iodine. If you are suffering from seborrheic dermatitis, eczema or psoriasis, and they are causing your itchy scalp hair loss, then remedies containing jogoba oil can be very effective at neutralizing the problem.

Cederwood Oil: Helps relieve a itchy scalp

How to use

Hair Naturel's anti itch formula can be applied daily on the scalp every night before going to bed and, used as a hot oil treatment.

To use as a hot oil treatment, following freshly damp shampooed hair, heat the oil so it becomes warm (not hot)

Massage oil it into scalp and wrap with clingfilm or a shower cap for 30 minutes.

Rinse off

(As with all oils, consult your doctor first if you are pregnant. It is also recommended you patch test all oils/formulas before application).
